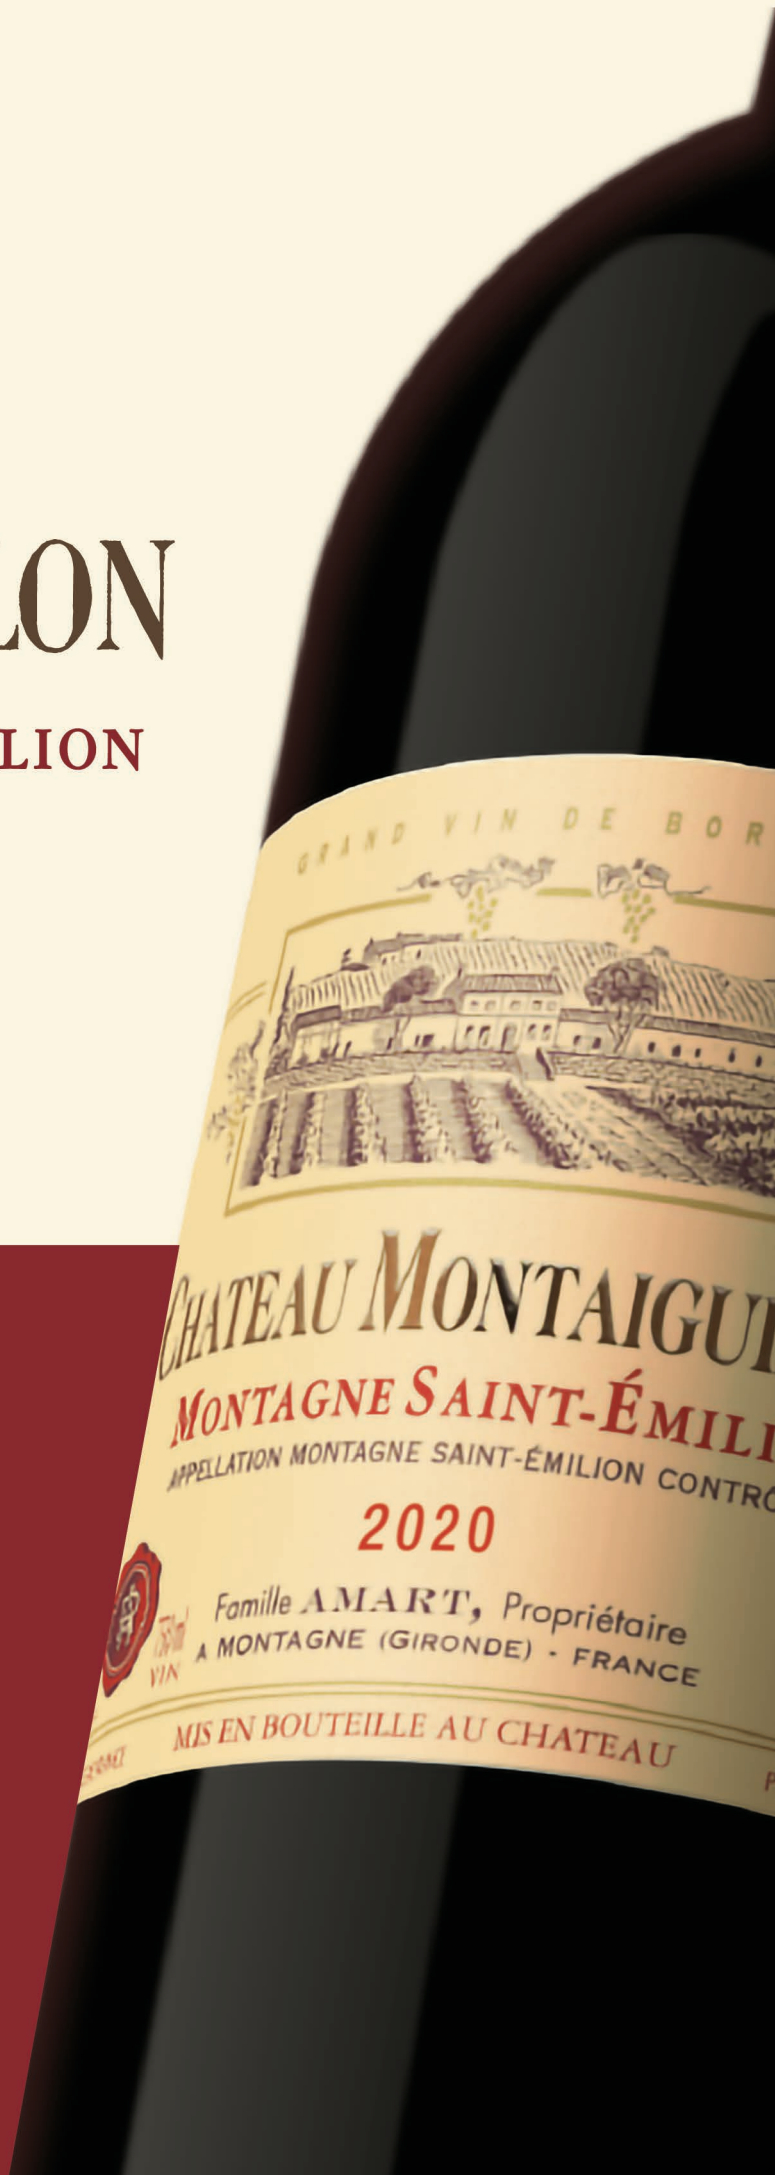
Chateau Montaiguillon

Montagne Saint-Émilion



Introduction to the property and its secrets: a warm welcome to Chateau Montaiguillon

Chateau Montaiguillon

Montagne Saint-Émilion

A family business: four generations have held the keys to Chateau Montaiguillon, every one of them seeking perfection both in cultivating the vineyard and producing extraordinary wines. The latter, carried out with the utmost precision, is guided by tradition as the wine is aged in oak barrels for at least 12 months. Every year, a rigorous selection process takes place to produce the ideal, refined assemblage.

The result is a powerful, fine, and aromatic wine – a very popular combination, particularly abroad. These wines, with great ageing potential, will bring you delight and conviviality for many years to come.

At the top of a hill, hovering above the region, Chateau Montaiguillon shares borders with Pomerol and Saint-Émilion, neighbouring the famous Grands Crus Classés. Sharing a common savoir-faire regarding the wine's conception but possessing a unique elegance to the taste, the chateau offers its distinctive products all around the world since 1949.

The clay and limestone terroir, the efficient natural drainage, a balanced grape variety, and an ideal exposure to the sun are all assets that produce the exceptional quality of our wines. Each year, the ideal assemblage is expertly selected. Always prioritising quality over quantity, we carefully produce wines that are based exclusively on the best components of the harvest.

Château Montaiguillon :

An attractive shade of purple,
with lighter reflections of violet, set the tone.
To the nose, aromas of dark fruit jam, vanilla, and caramel. The elegant oak flavour, coupled with the firm tannins,
are yet to melt, and do not hide the silky texture,
nor the generous fruit-packed flavour.
